The Smillower river, which traverses the counties of Coahoma, Bolivar, and Sunflower, in Mississippi, is also on a rampage tonight. Two-thirds of the water from the Flower Lake crevasse is rushing pell mell into this stream, and a large area will be inundated from the overflow. The Tallahatchie and Colwaler rivers are gradually falling.

At Helena, the river is slowly falling and indications are that the big stream will continue to decline. The waters below the Arkansas Midland leves are at a stand tonight. The number of refugees are increasing at Helena almost every hour. Little Rock, Ark., April 9.-Governor Jenes today received a letter from people at Island Seventy-three, White river, in which it is said the people there are in imminent danger of perishing. The people are on house tops, on rafts and all manner of beats, and are entirely without food. There are said to be 36 families around the island, and the letters state that unless they receive immediate succor they will cortainly portab. One family near the island has just tost six children in the flood. A letter from C. B. Blackburn, inspector of Laconia levee district, gives a graphic description of the sufferings of the victims in that district, and urges the governor to render them assistance.

Eight hundred persons, he reports, are destitute and in immediate need of food.

IN COMPARISON. Resume of the Situation in the South. Washington, April 9.—Fellowing is a sume of the present flood situation in resume of the present flood situation in the south, and the outlook as far as can be determined by comparison with previous floods:

The main volume of water is now between Memphis and Vicksburg, contained in the main channel of the Mississippi and the busites of the Yazoo and the Lower St. Francis, White and Arkansas rivers, which have been flooded by the breaking of the levees of the Mississippi. The waters from these basins must all return to the Mississippi above Vicksburg, and unless the levees on the west side of the river between the mouth of the Arkansas and the Vicksburg break must pass by the latter point to the lower river.

In the flood of 1890, the last great flood preceding this, and which this flood so far in the breaking of levees and regions flooded closely resembles, the river began to rise at Vicksburg, from the water returning from the crevasses, on April 1, and rose 2.8 feet at the rate of about one-tenth of a foot a day until April 25. Notwithstanding the fact that the great crevases at Pecan Grove in northeast Louisians, above Vicksburg, allowed and immense volume of water to flow through to the 2ulf, without passing Vicksburg, this flood has caused numerous breaks in the levees on the Louisianus side and in-undated a very large region. The entire levee system of southoast Arkansas and Louisianus has been greatly strengthened in the pugilistic world is base with the decided of the collection of the collect undated a very large region. The entire levee system of southeast Arkansas and Louisiana has been greatly strengthened since that flood and especially during the past few weeks.

on Senator Fair's alleged deeds to Mrs. Craven, counsel for Mrs. Craven today received another setback in their endeavor to have the question of the validity or invalidity of the Craven deeds established by the verdict of a jury. The superior court overruled Mrs. Craven's demurrer to Miss Birdie Fair's equitable complaint in intervention in the quiet title suit of Executor Angus vs. Craven. Miss Fair's suit will be heard on April 9.—The senate resolution protesting against summary proceedings by the Spanish officials in Cubia against the captive insurgent leader, Ruiz Rivera, has reached the state department through the White House. Secretary Sherman regards it as merely dilatory of the sense of the Y. M. C. A. in regard to uniting the two bodies. Miss R. F. Morse of Orange, N. J., chairman of the committee, reported that it had been found wholly impracticable to amaigamate the associations. The chief reason for this is limbility to come together on the evangelical question. The association committee, in convention, requires that its active members be members of churches; the other association has no such rule. The report stated that the committee shad agreed to recommend that the associations aid each other in certain ways, and that they are not to conflict with each other. The report will doubt-less be adopted tomorrow.
